The Massachusetts government page on resources for families affected by autism offers comprehensive information and support services. It includes a variety of resources for families, such as state programs, educational services, and community support networks. The page highlights information about early intervention, school accommodations, and various therapies available for individuals with autism. Additionally, it provides links to organizations that offer advocacy, training, and resources to help families navigate challenges associated with autism spectrum disorder. The goal is to empower families with knowledge and support to enhance the lives of those with autism.
