Computer with Causes

Accessibility Resources · https://community.womensmoneymatters.org/resources/computer-with-causes/link:

Computers with Causes is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing technology to individuals and groups in need. The website outlines their mission to recycle donated computers and distribute them to those who can benefit from them, such as students, low-income families, and nonprofits. It also offers information on how to donate computers, apply for assistance, and get involved with the organization. Overall, the site emphasizes the importance of access to technology in fostering education and improving lives.